HALIFAX STORY HUNT

Organizer guide

An hour-long, free, on-foot team activity for 38 colleagues in downtown Halifax. Teams choose their own route between six historic doors, read a short story aloud at each one, then earn points at the real place.

GROUP	38 people in 6 teams: four teams of 6 and two teams of 7. Your team number is also your first door, so teams spread out instead of queueing.
ROUTE	Six doors, all outdoors, all free, all within about 12 minutes' walk of the Cambridge Suites (1583 Brunswick St). Teams do about four.
PER DOOR	Scan a QR code on arrival, read a 70-second story aloud, answer one listening question, complete one look-around challenge, take a guide photo and a creative photo.
EACH PHONE	A camera and mobile data. If data fails, Appendix A has the same stories and challenges on paper.
COST	$0. You print the packets. Nothing needs a ticket. Province House and St. Paul's have optional free interiors.

Run of show

TIME	WHAT HAPPENS
2:30	Teams gather in the lobby. Hand out packets and pens. Teams were assigned beforehand, or draw numbers from a hat.
2:35	Three-minute briefing (script on page 4). Launch all six teams.
2:35–3:20	Teams out on the route. Control stays at the hotel with the phone, the answer key and the backup cards.
3:20	Hard return. Late teams lose 3 points per minute. Judges review photos and scorecards.
3:20–3:30	Story round: each team tells its best story in 30 seconds while judges total the scores. Teams vote. Awards at 3:30.

Who you need

- Control (1 person, stays at the hotel): holds the scoreboard, takes calls from teams, keeps the weather call.
- Judge (1 or 2 people, can include Control): checks scorecards and photos at 3:20 using the answer key.
- Roamer (optional): stands at the Grand Parade between 2:40 and 3:10 to help with the St. Paul's and Cenotaph doors.

Before the day

BY	DO THIS
Nov 10	Open the story page on three phones (iPhone, Android, one on mobile data only), then scan all six codes. The page is shared by link, so set its sharing so anyone with the link can open it, and confirm it opens when you are signed out.
Nov 17	Walk the route on a weekday afternoon, ideally 2:30–3:30. Do each "site check" in the answer key and time yourself. Adjust the walking times if you are slower or faster.
Nov 20	Phone St. Paul's (902-429-2241): say a large group will pass through for a few minutes before 3:00 on Nov 24, and confirm hours. Look at Parks Canada's Citadel page for Nov 23–24 events.
Nov 23	Check the forecast. Make the weather call (page 9) by 1:45 pm on Nov 24 at the latest.
Nov 24, 2:00	Control table set up with packets, pens, scoreboard, the Appendix A cards in an envelope, and the six QR codes (page 2) for last-minute tests.

Control scoreboard

Fill in at 3:20 as judges report. Total = door points + threads + D6 bonus - late penalty + votes.

The six doors

Positions are to scale. Streets are left off on purpose: use phone maps for turn-by-turn. Walking times assume a group at about 4.5 km/h with a small allowance for hills.

Walking minutes

Read across: from the row to the column. Uphill legs are the slower numbers (the way back to the hotel).

MIN	H	1	2	3	4	5	6
Hotel		6	4	5	6	6	10
1. Clock	5		9	4	4	6	8
2. Basilica	4	10		8	9	7	11
3. St. Paul's	6	5	6		1	2	6
4. Grand Parade	7	5	8	1		2	5
5. Province House	8	7	7	2	3		4
6. Historic Properties	12	10	11	7	6	4

What to expect

- Doors 3 and 4 are neighbours, about a minute apart.
- Door 2 is the only door south of the hotel. Door 6 is the farthest, and the climb back is the steepest.
- Hotel to Province House and the Grand Parade is downhill. Everything back is uphill.

Sample routes

Stops are budgeted at 4 minutes a door (3 for a five-door route). A good route is about 40 minutes so there is slack before 3:20.

ROUTE	DOORS	WALK	TOTAL	NOTES
Old town loop	1 , 3 , 4 , 5	21 min	37 min	Crown, parade ground, free press. Quick and mostly downhill.
Faith and fire	2 , 3 , 4 , 1	23 min	39 min	Hits the 1917 Explosion thread (doors 1, 2, 3) and the 1749 thread.
Harbour run	2 , 3 , 5 , 6	30 min	46 min (tight)	Hits the By Sea thread and the +5 bonus. Longest four-door route.
Stretch	1 , 3 , 4 , 5 , 6	29 min	44 min	Five doors. Only works with 3-minute stops.

Briefing and launch

Three minutes at 2:30 in the lobby. Adapt the first paragraph to your workplace's usual practice.

"Thank you for being outside with us in late November. We are about to walk in Kjipuktuk, the Mi'kmaw name for Halifax harbour, which means Great Harbour. This is Mi'kma'ki, the traditional and unceded territory of the Mi'kmaq."

"Downtown Halifax has six doors. Each is a real place within a short walk. Your team number is your first door, so check your packet. After that you choose your own route."

"At each door, scan the code on your packet when you arrive. A page opens with a story. One person reads it aloud while someone photographs them with the place behind. Then answer the listening question, do the look-around, and take the creative photo. The scorecard is how you keep track."

"Four doors is a full hunt. You will pass up some doors, and that is the point. Walking times are on every page. Two wild cards double your look-around points. Threads connect doors and add bonus points."

"Stay together, use crosswalks, walk, and watch for ice. St. Paul's closes about 3:00, so go early if you want the inside. Be back in this lobby by 3:20. Every minute late costs three points. Your safety lead sets the pace. If anyone is cold or tired, call Control and head back."

"At 3:20 each team tells one story it learned, in 30 seconds. We will vote for the best story and the best photo. Questions? Go."

Team formation

- Teams 1 to 4: six people. Teams 5 and 6: seven people. Mix departments. Name teams in the lobby or let them choose on the first leg.
- Pre-assign if you can. If drawing from a hat, draw numbers 1 to 6 so each team knows its first door.
- Give each team a packet (3 pages) and one pen. Write the Control phone number on the cover strip of each packet.

Questions you will hear

QUESTION	ANSWER
Can we split up to cover more doors?	No. The team stays together, and everyone should hear every story.
A place is closed. What now?	Do the outside version. Each door lists one in the answer key. Points are the same.
Does the answer have to be word for word?	No. Judges should be generous. The aim is a fun hour, not an exam.
Can we skip a door?	Yes. Nobody needs all six.
Phone has no data or the page will not load?	Use a teammate's phone. If nobody has data, call Control and see page 9.

Scoring and judging

AT EACH DOOR	WHAT EARNS IT	PTS
Guide photo	Photo of the teammate reading the story aloud, landmark behind them.	5
Listen question	Answer from the story. Written on the scorecard.	10
Look-around	Find it, count it or photograph it at the real place.	10
Creative photo	The photo challenge for that door.	5
Door total	Most any team can earn per door	30

Bonuses and penalties

ITEM	RULE	PTS
Thread bonus	A team earns +10 for each thread it completes (two or more doors on the thread, plus one fact from each written on the scorecard). Maximum 20.	+10 each
Door 6	Historic Properties is the farthest door.	+5
Wild cards	Each team has two. Each doubles one Look-around score, at most one per door.	x2
Late return	Every minute after 3:20.	-3 per min
Votes	Each team casts one vote for Best Story Told Back and one for Best Creative Photo. Teams cannot vote for themselves. Winners get +10 each.	+10

Threads

THREAD	DOORS	WHAT CONNECTS THEM
1749 Founding	1, 3, 4	Halifax is founded. Soldiers, a first church and a parade ground all begin in 1749.
1917 Explosion	1, 2, 3	December 6, 1917. A clock stops, windows break and bells crack.
By Sea	3, 5, 6	Timbers from Maine, sandstone by boat, warehouses on the wharf. Halifax was built with what the harbour delivered.

How judges work at 3:20

- Each team shows its scorecard and, on a phone, the guide photo and creative photo for each door. Judges check the photo shows the right place and the right pose, and the answers against the key.
- Award partial points freely. If a photo is unclear, ask for a quick re-description rather than zero.
- Typical scores: four doors at full marks is 120. With threads, a wild card and the Door 6 bonus a strong team reaches 150 or more.
- Tie-break: more doors visited, then thread bonus, then the vote.

Awards (free)

- Top Navigators: highest total.
- Best Story Told Back and Best Creative Photo: team votes.
- Staying Power: earliest back with at least three doors.

Answer key and site checks

Do each site check on your walk-through. Points are in brackets. Accept reasonable wording.

1 Old Town Clock

TIME AND THE CROWN

LISTEN	Who ordered the clock, and what problem was it meant to solve? (10) Prince Edward, Duke of Kent (5). To fix the garrison's lateness / keep the troops punctual (5).
LOOK	Look at the clock face. How is the number four written? Write it on your scorecard. (10) IIII (four I's), not IV. Give 10 for IIII.
PHOTO	Late for parade! Freeze in a mid-stride pose, everyone looking at the clock. Mime it: no running on the street. (5). Guide photo (5): the reader mid-story with the landmark visible.
THREADS	1749 Founding, 1917 Explosion
HOURS	Outdoors, always accessible. Stay at street level: the grass slope is steep and may be icy.
SITE CHECK	Confirm on the walk-through that the 4 reads IIII from the sidewalk and that the spot at the base of the hill is not iced over.

2 St. Mary’s Basilica

GRANITE AND FAITH

LISTEN	Who was hired to build the roof, and why was that a good fit? (10) Shipwrights (5). No local craftsman had roofed anything this big; shipwrights framed it like a ship's hull (5).
LOOK	Count the gables (the triangular peaks) across the granite front. Write the number. (10) 3. Accept 3 only. (Canada's Historic Places lists a granite front with three gables; confirm on the walk-through.)
PHOTO	Human spire: tallest teammate in the centre, everyone else stepping down on each side to make a spire shape. No climbing. (5). Guide photo (5): the reader mid-story with the landmark visible.
THREADS	1917 Explosion
HOURS	Exterior only is fine. The church is generally open Mon–Fri 8:30–12 and 1–4:30 if a team wants to peek in (quiet voices).
SITE CHECK	Confirm the gable count from the sidewalk across Spring Garden Rd.

3 St. Paul's Church

THE OLDEST WALLS

LISTEN	In what year was St. Paul's founded, and where were its timbers cut? (10) 1749 (5; accept 1750 for the building). Saco, Maine (5).
LOOK	INSIDE (if open before 2:55): find the piece of window frame above the War Memorial Arch in the entrance area. What is it made of? OUTSIDE (if closed): photograph the whole team with the full church behind you. (10) Inside: wood (a window frame) for 10. Outside alternative: photo with the whole church visible for 10.
THREADS	1749 Founding, 1917 Explosion, By Sea
HOURS	Interior relics are visible only when the church is open. Posted hours for Tuesdays run about 9:00–3:00, so go early (before 2:55). Self-guided visits are free; quiet voices, no food or drink.
SITE CHECK	Call St. Paul's office (902-429-2241) ahead to say a large group will pass through for a few minutes before 3:00 on Nov 24, and confirm the relic locations.

4 Grand Parade

THE TOWN SQUARE

LISTEN	What was the Grand Parade first built for, and what does the bronze figure on the Cenotaph represent? (10) A military parade ground / for soldiers to drill (5). Britannia, representing Nova Scotia's mothers (5).
LOOK	Walk around the Cenotaph and list every conflict named on it. (10) Expect World War I, World War II, Korea and Afghanistan. 3 or more correct = 10; 2 = 5. Walk the Cenotaph on your site visit to confirm the wording.
THREADS	1749 Founding
HOURS	Open air, always accessible. The Cenotaph is a memorial: no clowning near it.
SITE CHECK	Walk all four sides of the Cenotaph and note the exact conflicts listed.

5 Province House

FREE PRESS

LISTEN	What was Joseph Howe charged with, and about how long did the jury take to decide? (10) Seditious (criminal) libel (5). About ten minutes (5).
LOOK	On the grounds, photograph the Joseph Howe statue (5 points) and find one other monument and write its name (5 points). (10) Howe statue photo = 5. Other monument: the South African War memorial = 5 (accept any other monument they photograph and name correctly).
THREADS	By Sea
HOURS	Inside is free but needs photo ID and security screening (open Mon–Fri 8:30–4:00, last entry 3:30). Plan on the grounds only. If the garden gate is closed, work from the sidewalk and fence.
SITE CHECK	Confirm whether the Prince St garden gate is open in the afternoon. If not, check what you can see of the Howe statue from the fence.

6 Historic Properties

SEA AND TRADE

LISTEN	What is a privateer, and about how many American ships did Nova Scotian privateers seize in the War of 1812? (10) A privately owned ship licensed by a government to capture enemy merchant ships (5). More than 200 (5).
LOOK	Find the Privateers' Warehouse: a stone building with small windows and loading doors on the ground floor. Photograph it and write how many storeys it has. (10) Three and a half storeys. Accept 3 or 4 for 10 points if the photo shows the right building.
THREADS	By Sea
HOURS	The farthest door and the steepest walk back. The boardwalk is outdoors. Shops are generally open 10–6 on weekdays. Door 6 earns a +5 distance bonus.
SITE CHECK	Locate the Privateers' Warehouse on site and confirm which building has signage or a plaque. Count storeys from the boardwalk side.

If things go sideways

Weather

CONDITIONS	CALL
Dry or light rain, sidewalks clear	Run as planned. Remind people about boots and layers by email the day before.
Steady rain or snow, windy, but sidewalks safe	Run, and tell teams Doors 5 and 6 are optional. Drop the Door 6 bonus if you want to keep them close.
Freezing rain, icy sidewalks, or a wind warning	Switch to Plan B by 1:45 pm.

Plan B (indoor, same hour). Keep the same six teams in the meeting room. Control reads three door stories aloud from Appendix A. Each team answers the Listen questions on its scorecard (30 points). Then each team builds the three creative photos from the cards inside the hotel (15 points) and presents its best story. Same awards, same 3:30 finish.

Closures and fallbacks

PROBLEM	FALLBACK
St. Paul's is closed or locked	Use the outside photo version of the Look-around (10 points).
Province House gate is closed	Work from the fence. Accept the Howe statue or any monument seen through it; if none is visible, give the 10 points for a photo of the building front.
The hill below the Clock is icy	Teams stay on the sidewalk. The IIII is visible from there.
Grand Parade has a stage or event set up	Fine. Teams walk around it. If the Cenotaph is fenced, accept the listing from the Remembrance panels or skip the Look-around for full marks.
A team's phone has no data	Another team member's phone, or call Control to send a photo of the backup card.
The QR page will not open	Type the address printed on page 2 of the packet. If it still fails, Control hands out the Appendix A card.

Safety, access and respect

- Teams of 6 or 7 only. The Safety lead sets the pace and walks with the slowest walker.
- Any teammate who prefers not to do hills can join as a team's "Base" at the hotel: they keep time, hold the scorecard and photograph the others' return.
- Doors 2, 3, 4 and 5 are close to flat on short legs. Door 6 and the climbs back are the steep ones.
- St. Paul's, St. Mary's and the Cenotaph are places of worship and remembrance. Quiet voices, no flash inside, no jokes at the Cenotaph.
- Province House is a working legislature with security screening and photo ID. We only visit the grounds. No climbing on statues.
- Photograph strangers only with their permission.

Open items to confirm

- Whether Parks Canada's "Victorian Christmas" (listed Nov 23–24, noon to 4 pm on its hours page) applies this year. If so, the Citadel area will be busier.
- St. Paul's hours on Nov 24. Posted hours vary by source: 9:00–3:00 or 10:00–3:00 for self-guided visits.
- Which relics are visible inside St. Paul's, the Cenotaph conflict list, and which building is the Privateers' Warehouse.

Appendix A: Backup story cards

Cut or fold. Use if a phone has no data or the page will not open. Same text as the story page.

TIME AND THE CROWN

READ ALOUD

You are standing at the foot of Citadel Hill. Halifax has been a garrison town since 1749, and one of its commanders, Prince Edward, Duke of Kent, had a famous obsession: punctuality. Before he left Halifax in 1800 he had plans drawn up for a clock to keep his troops on time. He never saw it finished. The clock began keeping time on October 20, 1803. Its works were made in London by the House of Vulliamy, a famous family of royal clockmakers. Three heavy weights drive the mechanism, a 13-foot pendulum sets its beat, and Parks Canada staff still wind it by hand twice a week. On December 6, 1917, the Halifax Explosion stopped the clock. It is said to be the only time it has ever stopped. Prince Edward went on to become the father of Queen Victoria. Before you leave, look up at the clock face. The clockmakers made a choice there that clock fans love to argue about.

LISTEN (10)	Who ordered the clock, and what problem was it meant to solve?
LOOK (10)	Look at the clock face. How is the number four written? Write it on your scorecard.

2 St. Mary’s Basilica

GRANITE AND FAITH

READ ALOUD

This is Saint Mary’s Cathedral Basilica. After British anti-Catholic laws were repealed, the first Catholic church in Halifax was founded in 1784. The stone church behind this front was built between 1820 and 1829, and it was the first stone church in the city. Nobody in town had ever roofed a building this big, so the builders hired shipwrights, who framed the roof the way they would build the hull of a ship. The granite front and the spire came later. Polished granite pillars were shipped from Scotland, and on September 7, 1874, the cross was set on top of the spire, 189 feet above the sidewalk. It is said to be the tallest free-standing granite spire in North America. On December 6, 1917, the Halifax Explosion blew out the windows, and some of the bells cracked and were sent to England to be recast. Each year a Treaty Day Mass here remembers the 1752 treaty between the Mi’kmaq and the British.

LISTEN (10)	Who was hired to build the roof, and why was that a good fit?
LOOK (10)	Count the gables (the triangular peaks) across the granite front. Write the number.

3 St. Paul's Church

THE OLDEST WALLS

READ ALOUD

St. Paul's was founded in 1749, the same year as Halifax itself, and its wooden walls went up in 1750. That makes it the oldest building in Halifax and the oldest Protestant church in Canada. The timbers were cut in Saco, Maine, and shipped north. In 1917 the Halifax Explosion blew out the windows but left the church standing, and the building kept two reminders. One is a piece of window frame still embedded in the wall above the War Memorial Arch in the entrance area. The other is a window in the west gallery where the glass broke in the shape of a human profile, head and shoulders. Stories differ about whose face it is. The church tells it as a clergyman from long ago, and other tellers have darker versions. Nobody can say for sure. The explosion killed nearly 2,000 people and injured about 9,000, and this church is one of the places where Halifax keeps that memory in plain sight.

LISTEN (10)	In what year was St. Paul's founded, and where were its timbers cut?
LOOK (10)	INSIDE (if open before 2:55): find the piece of window frame above the War Memorial Arch in the entrance area. What is it made of? OUTSIDE (if closed): photograph the whole team with the full church behind you.

4 Grand Parade

THE TOWN SQUARE

READ ALOUD

The Grand Parade is the oldest public open space in Halifax. When the town was founded in 1749 it was laid out as a parade ground where soldiers drilled, and the city grew up around it. Today it still works as the town square: Remembrance Day ceremonies, New Year's Eve and the holiday tree lighting all happen here. At the north end stands City Hall, finished in 1890 and officially opened on May 22 of that year. At the south end stands St. Paul's, founded the same year as the city. In the middle is the Cenotaph, about nine metres tall, unveiled on July 1, 1929 by former Prime Minister Robert Borden. A fountain stood here before it. The bronze figure on top is Britannia, victorious but grieving, representing Nova Scotia's mothers. Later conflicts were added to the inscriptions over the years, most recently Afghanistan in 2015. This is a place of remembrance, so keep your voices low near the Cenotaph.

LISTEN (10)	What was the Grand Parade first built for, and what does the bronze figure on the Cenotaph represent?
LOOK (10)	Walk around the Cenotaph and list every conflict named on it.
PHOTO (5)	Town crier: record a 10-second announcement of your team's biggest news. Do it at the City Hall end, not near the Cenotaph.

5 Province House

FREE PRESS

READ ALOUD

Province House is the oldest legislative building in Canada. It was built between 1811 and 1819 of sandstone quarried at Wallace, Nova Scotia, and brought to Halifax by water. The Assembly still meets here. In 1835 the room that is now the Legislative Library was a courtroom, and a newspaper editor named Joseph Howe stood trial there. His paper had printed a letter accusing Halifax magistrates and police of pocketing thirty thousand pounds over thirty years, and he was charged with seditious libel. Howe had no lawyer. He defended himself, speaking for about six hours. The judge told the jury to convict him. The jury took about ten minutes to acquit. Howe's paper declared that the press of Nova Scotia was free, and the case is remembered as a landmark for press freedom in Canada. Howe is honoured by a statue on the grounds. In the Library hangs a portrait of a man you may have met at the Old Town Clock: Prince Edward, Duke of Kent.

LISTEN (10)	What was Joseph Howe charged with, and about how long did the jury take to decide?
LOOK (10)	On the grounds, photograph the Joseph Howe statue (5 points) and find one other monument and write its name (5 points).

READ ALOUD

Welcome to the waterfront. The Mi'kmaw name for this harbour is Kjipuktuk, meaning Great Harbour, and it is the reason Halifax exists. These stone and wooden warehouses date from about 1800 to the 1870s and were built for merchants and shipping companies. One of them is the Privateers' Warehouse. Privateers were privately owned ships licensed by a government to capture enemy merchant vessels. In the War of 1812, Nova Scotian privateers seized more than 200 American merchant ships. Local tradition says Enos Collins, a privateer who became a banker, stored his prize cargo in this stone warehouse, which is probably the oldest building left on the Halifax waterfront. Historians who looked closely at the dates think the building may be a little too young for that story. In the 1960s the whole row was slated to make way for a highway. A study showed it mattered, and by the mid-1970s the warehouses had been restored into the shops and pubs you see now.

LISTEN (10)	What is a privateer, and about how many American ships did Nova Scotian privateers seize in the War of 1812?
